Started in 2014, through a partnership with Willing Hands, a Norwich-based food access organization, the Brookmead Food Pantry Garden provides food for our community members in need and allows us to continue our mission of bringing people together to decrease food insecurity. The garden is located on land that makes our communities more resilient, healthy and sustainable for all.